

PARENT ADVOCACY CHECKLIST

for Jewish students

Have regular conversations with your student(s).

Ask: Are you having any issues you want to talk about? What are you studying in social studies/world history? If a class has a syllabus, ask to look at it.

Meet with and get to know the principal before there is a problem.

In addition, meet with your designated school board member as a group of parents and cultivate this relationship.

Come to administrators with solutions, not only problems.

Make sure to document and record any incident(s) and communication with the teacher/principal, including their responses and plan for addressing the problem.

Familiarize yourself with the reporting process should your student experience antisemitism (how to file a report, to whom it is being sent, timeframe for expecting a response).

See this resource.

Get to know other Jewish parents in your student's school or, if possible, in the schools in your immediate area (a response to curricular concerns or ongoing antisemitism is best addressed as a group of parents).

Reach out to Jewish Federation for guidance or if intervention is needed:
Mark Henderson, mhenderson@jewishrochester.org, 585-241.8624 (O), 585.269.1271 (C)
Monica Gebell, mgebell@jewishrochester.org, 585-241-8634 (O)

Jewish Federation[®] of Greater Rochester
Center for Advocacy and Education